Shelter Social Housing campaign

Shelter have been in touch to say that they are launching a large social housing campaign in Edinburgh around September. They are very keen to give a platform to people living in social housing to share their experiences of why it is so important to build social homes in Scotland. They are looking for any experiences of social housing either positive or negative. They're particularly interested in hearing from people who have been on a waiting list for a while, perhaps due to overcrowding or their accommodation being unsuitable. They are hoping that the campaign will be launched across Scotland.

Shelter have asked if any ETF members might be interested in sharing their opinions or experiences? Anyone taking part would need to know that their feedback may be used to support Shelter's campaign, although they can anonymise their personal details if that helps people feel more comfortable.

This campaign is still in the very early planning stages and Shelter will take the current epidemic into account when finalising the details. The EC is asked to consider whether they would like to support the campaign on behalf of ETF.
